DOGGY DELISH'S RECORD ATTEMPT

Doggy Delish was the location of a recent record attempt. I am not sure if it is an actual real world record, but to them it was a record BOL!

It was the 23rd June 2018 and it was a lovely warm sunny day. Doggy Delish welcomed the record breaking hounds. There were:

3 greyhounds,

Dusty, Zero and Major

1 lurcher,

Tigger

4 whippets

Kai, Sammy, Rooby, Tess

podenco x

Strawberry

This meant that 9 dogs were going to attempt to enter the shop at the same time.

Now it must be pointed out that although nine dogs do not sound a lot but Doggy Delish has a relatively small shop front.

The record was achieved! 9 dogs in Doggy Delish at the same time. There was a cheer and celebratory treats were handed out.

It was as the treats were being handed out that chaos broke out.

One of the Whippets decided to do some shelf shopping and a very tired greyhound decided that the pile of dog beds were there for her to use.

All in all Doggy Delish were happy with the record and said it was wonderful to have so many dogs in the shop at the same time.

Special thanks to Professional animal photographer Paul McGuiness who was there to photograph the dogs as they left the shop.

Doggy Delish is a family run pet food manufacturer that have been making dog treats, pupcakes, Birthday cakes and other very tasty snacks since 2014.

In March 2018 they opened their shop in North Shields and since then they have been meeting and greeting all types and sizes of dogs every day.

A MESSAGE FROM TIGGER

Hi readers,
Every month seems to be getting busier and busier.

On my daily adventures I have started to get dogs with their humans that I have never met before stopping me to say hello.

Almost nearly famous at last!!

Previously I told you all about things I was working on in the background to help me earn money to keep my website and newspaper going.

I am making progress there and I can announce that Paracord Leads North East have offered to pay me a small commission from all orders that use the code 'TIGGER-LEADS'.

How pawsome is that!

Thank you for reading
Nose bump to you

NEWS FROM DORIS - THE ROVING REPORTER

Greetings my roving pals.

I've not travelled particularly far this month but my local jaunts up the coast started a conversation with my hound pals about how we travel in the car.

There are several positions, of varying comfort it seems! It started when we took a short drive to the local charity shop with a tv.

Because of it's size (and my friend Teddy the cocker being in the front), I was unceremoniously bundled in the boot. Yes, the boot, a part of the car I'd not seen before. Okay it was a 5 min journey but there was a distinct lack of soft furnishings in said boot.

Elaine knew I was absolutely fine but that didn't stop me vocalising my disgust whilst Teddy chuckled in comfort.

So I asked my pals how they travelled, some have harnesses, like my usual back seat position, others hammocks. A lot had estate cars and bedding and some have sensible built in cages.

The overriding fact though, which made me laugh, was the attention to comfort! Safety, obviously, was paramount but you should have seen the blankets and mattresses some had. Whole cars bought and converted just for a dog, memory foam and fleece linings. I loved it all.

I showed my findings to Elaine who smiled and said I didn't have to go in the boot again and I could get a fancy leopard print hammock for the back seat. Bingo.

So next time you buckle up pals, think of all the others dogs travelling around at the same time in a curious array of set ups.

Beds on wheels pals, beds on wheels.

Doz, firmly not in the boot.

DUSTY'S DIARY

Hi folks,

I can hardly believe another month has flown by!

I've been busy enjoying my first summer with full off lead privileges, and the human has been walking my legs off.

My favourite trip recently was to an absolutely huge forest.

As soon as we had walked a little way, it felt like we had the place to ourselves, and that was where the fun really began. You see, we weren't completely alone because the trees were teeming with squizzers!

I lost count of how many I nearly caught, I was running all over the place, but they kept escaping up the huge trees, where I stood and woofed to tell them to come back down immediately, but they were all sitting and laughing at me from their lofty perches!

Now what may have escaped your attention readers, is that the human was enjoying seeing me so excited, and had blindly followed me for a fair few miles...you guessed it, she was now completely lost!

I was in no hurry to cut short my outing, and in any case reckned that I could survive on squizzer meat for several days if needed.

I led her round for another couple of hours before we found some more humans who gave her directions to escape.

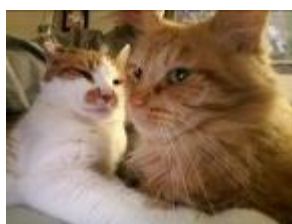

To be honest, I had put so many squizzers in their place, I was a bit tired by then too!

She has promised to take me back there, and this time I'm going to catch myself a snack, so squizzers beware!

Until next time.

Have a pawsome month
Dusty

YODA AND CHEEZLT'S SCRATCHING POST

Hi everypawdy!

Cheezlt the floofball, here. Big brother Yoda got to write last month, so now it's my turn (he doesn't know it yet).

Our Momma tossed me into the evil carrier, and hauled me off to the v-e-t! She told me I needed my teeth cleaned.

Ever since she adopted me, she kept telling me that I had something called "Cheezy Dragon Breath". Now that I think of it, maybe I should have let her brush my teeth with that stinky stuff she bought and kept trying to use on me.

It would have been better that being trapped in a box for a few hours. Luckily, they let me sleep while they cleaned my pretty teethies....because I was scared! I had never had my teeth worked on before. They didn't have to pull any teeth either, which made us both happy.

The only good thing about going to the v-e-t is that Momma feels bad about us being locked up for so long. So she gives us extra loving, and extra treats! You can never have too many treats! I can't wait until Yoda's turn to go there....because Momma has to be sneaky in order to get him in the evil carrier.

Every time Momma opens the closet, where the carrier is, Yoda still hides under the couch! He's stupid like that. Then it will be my turn to laugh!! So, learn from my mistake, my furriends!

If you Momma or Daddy wants to brush your teeth, just let them! Otherwise they will put you in the evil carrier and take you to the v-e-t!

Until next month,
Yoda and Cheezlt

Three Very Quite Actual Cheers For Worzel Wooface

- By Catherine Pickles

Worzel is an enormous lurcher with "issues." Now in his third year, Worzel's horizon's are expanding. Worzel and his family campaign to save his favourite beach; there's also a foreign trip, a ball obsessed labrador to contend with, and a foster brother who needs teaching the ways of the world. And maybe, he can even teach Worzel a thing or two

For the Love of Hounds - By Tracey Ison

A gentle stroll through the lives of four very individual and much loved hounds. RUBY - Our first and our "forever" Whippet. Scared of the world and everything in it. Our devoted companion until she was tragically taken from us. IZZY - Our beautiful, reckless Whippet. An absolute diva. MISTY - The gentlest, sweetest of Whippets and Izzy's soul mate. SCOUT - Saved as a puppy from almost certain death, our handsome, partially-sighted rescue lurcher brings mischief and joy wherever he goes.

WARNING!

An establishment calling itself Cosaig Self Catering has been marketing itself as “Dog Friendly” but this is what some past canine guests have had to say:

“We stayed there a week. The humans walked my paws off and I was unable to move when I got home. Definitely NOT suitable for lazy greyhounds”

“It’s beside a park which is all well and good ... but the humans wouldn’t let this Jack Russell play on it at 3am”

“We were very disappointed Beagles. The garden was enclosed so we couldn’t go exploring alone”

“It seemed great at first all comfy throws and treats but they don’t tell you about the garden ‘shower’ “

“Very few crisps dropped in the local pubs”

“The home-made dog treats only lasted this Labrador a couple of days ...and then I literally STARVED”

“The humans said the beds were too comfy to get up at 7am for my regular walk”

ADVICE FOR DOGS

IF YOUR HUMANS BOOK AT WWW.COSAIGSELFATERING.CO.UK THE FOLLOWING MEASURES CAN HELP:

Remove all clothes from bags as they are packing.

Be very naughty...they might decide they can’t take you on holiday after all.

If all else fails and you end up at Cosaig you can’t say that we didn’t warn you.

DOGS WITH JOBS—"WINSTON"

Tell me a bit about yourself:

I am a 4 year old Labernese (black labrador/Bernese mountain dog).

I've been a service dog for nearly 2 years now, but I was in school learning the job for a year before that. And my first year was spent with a foster family that socialized me and made sure to expose me to a wide range of environments and experiences to make sure I'd be happy and comfortable when working.

Why are you using an alias?

I am using an alias, not for any deep and mysterious reason. As a service dog I must be 100% focused on my job and the welfare of my human. Imagine if I was about to assist my human across a busy road and another human spotted me and shouted my real name. This would not only be distracting, it could be very dangerous for both myself and my human.

Do you enjoy being a service dog?

Absolutely; Not only do I get to spend all day every day hanging out with my human, I get to go to loads of places not normally open to your average dog.

He brings me to all kind of weird and wonderful places with new smells, new people. I get to help him and he rewards me with love and treats. People say I'm working, but really, I think it's a great game.

Are there any rules or special things we need to do/consider if we meet a service dog?

It sounds harsh, but you and your humans must not pet, talk or interact with me while I am working as I must be totally focused.

Do you get to have time to relax and play?

When I'm at home, I don't work. Or rather, I'm on call. I don't have to wear my work harness at home, and I can just crash where I want (usually I stay close to my human even if I don't have to).

We play games like running up and down the corridor between the entrance and the kitchen. I have toys (oooh boy, my stuffed turtle is my favourite! and I haven't managed to destroy it yet).

In summer, my human gives me a kong filled with canned food that he put in the freezer. That keeps me occupied and cool for a good hour! And 2 or 3 times a week, we go to the dog park where I can be off leash and sniff around and run like a wild thing.

Do you not get lonely not having a dog pal to play or meet up with?

Not at all as I have a human that is 100% focused on my health and welfare. Not only physically but also emotionally as I am never left alone and I receive plenty of cuddles and treats.

Every day is an adventure and I wouldn't change it for anything.

Have there been any funny moments while you have been a service dog?

As for funny moments, there are a few that jump to mind. Like the first time my tail swiped my human's tv remote control off the coffee table. I didn't even think, I JUMPED to go get it and gave it back to my human.

Or the time someone at the airport dropped their passport in front of my nose. I picked it up, gave it to my human, who handed it to the man who'd dropped it.

The man complained that his passport was a bit wet from saliva - but he laughed because he thought it was cool.

Or the time we came across another dog and their human. The man told the other dog to "get out of the way, he works for a living, unlike you, lazy lump".

PRODUCT REVIEW - PARACORD LEADS NORTH EAST

I was contacted by Paracord leads North East and asked if they send me a lead, would I like to review it.

I of course was happy to review their lead.

Product Review:

Paracord Leads North East

Product(s) Received:

1 x paracord lead

Products Used:

Paracord Lead

Packaging:

Arrived in a plain Brown envelope.

NOTE: They are based in a town near me so hand delivered the lead.

Using the Product:

As a lead is attached to my harness I was not expecting any difference to myself, more for my human holding it.

Personal Observations:

1. Every time I slightly pulled away I felt a gentle pull back similar to the gentle corrective pull backs my human does when we are walking. So I ended up walking beside my human more.
2. My human said the lead felt lighter. (probably because I was walking beside them more)
3. I love the colour s chosen by the company as they match me quite well.
4. When I suddenly pulled sharply to one side (there was a tree that had to be sniffed) The lead has some flexibility so I wasn't jolted to a stop and my human was not pulled off balance.

Overall Product Rating:

I have only had it a few days but up to now I am very happy with the lead. My human is happy to use it too.

Would I buy the product myself:

Yes I probably would, although as I now have one unless I wanted different a colour.

About the Company:

Paracord Leads North East specialise in Hand-made Dog Leads.

These Leads are extremely versatile and can be used for show, agility, strength, work and every-day use. They are made from 550 Parachute Cord and able to withstand up to 2000kg of weight in total. (Please don't try at home!)

Don't worry they won't hurt your hands! They are softer than normal rope and slightly stretchy...so your dog won't be taking you for a walk.

More information and how to purchase the leads can be found on their So-cial media page:

HEALTH - HYDROTHERAPY

I have often heard about hydrotherapy but know nothing about it, so I contacted Chesterfield Hydrotherapy Referral Centre in Derbyshire.

Tell me a bit about your company.

Chesterfield Hydrotherapy Referral Centre first opened in 2014 and had just 1 dog being treated a week.

Now we have about 20 plus each week.

I was started by myself and is the only one in Chesterfield. We have a 5m x 2.4m pool which is big enough for even Newfoundlands to swim in.

Is a hydrotherapy centre a fun swimming pool for animals?

Yes it is for small animals, however so far we have only had dogs in it.

Although we did get asked to swim a pig and a cat. Cats sometimes enjoy swimming.

Or is it just for injury recovery?

We use hydrotherapy to treat dogs with injuries however, we also see dogs who just come because they like swimming and their humans want them to swim somewhere which is safe and clean.

We also see dogs whose humans want them to learn to swim or have more confidence in water.

What types of animals have been to your facility?

So far only dogs, however we could see cats, rabbits, or other small animals.

What are the benefits/reasons for animals using the facility?

That is not an easy question to answer in a few words. However, basically it uses the properties of water such as Buoyancy, Hydrostatic Pressure, Cohesiveness, Resistance, Viscosity and Turbulence.

Also because the water is warm it relaxes the muscles and increases circulation and promotes healing.

Hydrotherapy also improves dogs mental health particularly when they are injured and can no longer run and play. Because swimming is non weight bearing the dogs can play with balls in the water without any force going through their joints.

Hydrotherapy helps with conditions such as Arthritis, obesity, hip and elbow dysplasia, luxating patella, cranial cruciate disease, degenerative joint disease, CDRM, Wobblers, amputations, muscle tears, ligament injuries and pre and post operative conditioning to list a few.

What happens if an animal cannot swim?

Every animal that uses the pool will wear either a lifejacket or a harness.

The lifejacket gives the animal confidence that they will not drown but float.

Also I am in the pool with the dog and will be helping them whenever they need it to make sure that they can enjoy swimming.

I believe that pretty much every dog can swim after a fashion albeit with a lot of thrashing around and this means the dog could get itself to the edge of the water.

The problem comes if they then can't get out.

At the centre we have a ramp where the dogs enter and leave the pool safely and they are guided to this from their first swim.

Do you have special life vests/devices for animals?

Yes we have different sizes of lifejackets and harnesses as well as buster collars and ear wraps.

We also use arm bands for some dogs who need a bit more buoyancy.

If for recovery only, how do animals get to book in to your facility?

Every dog we see has to have a vet referral or agreement for them to be treated at the centre even if they are only coming for fun.

HEALTH - HYDROTHERAPY

This is so that the vet makes us aware of anything that might be affected by the dog swimming, such as diabetes which means the dog has to follow a strict feeding and exercise routine which swimming could interfere with.

I know your facility is a serious place but do you have a funny story to share?

Yes it is a serious place, however, we want every dog/cat/animal to really enjoy the experience and have fun.

If they are having fun they often don't realise that they are also working and doing something that helps them. Also if the dog is happy so is the owner.

We have lots of funny incidents and the dogs often make us laugh and smile.

For example:
Bob who decided that he was a parrot and climbed on my shoulder.

Stanley who loves the chew stick so much that when I stood in the middle of the pool with it he just kept swimming round and round me.

Reg used to jump into the pool over the side, swim 2 circuits of the pool and then lay on the ramp just enjoying the warm water looking at us as if to say "what? I have done my bit!"

But often the funniest moments are when the dogs get things wrong like anticipating a toy being thrown and start to jump, try and stop themselves before falling head first into the water.

We laugh with them not at them and make sure they never come to any harm if this happens.

Indy one of our GSDs used to like standing on the ramp between swims and having a certain set of balls thrown to him.

These balls could be filled with water and on catching them Indy would take great pleasure in squeezing the balls of that a jet of water came out which he would aim at either me or his owners, soaking them often in the face!

Indy would play this game for ages and would probably have stayed all day playing it. The balls however, have now too many holes in them to be used like this anymore and unfortunately we are unable to get anymore.

Is there anything else that you feel is important everyone knows about that I never knew to ask you?

Just to let owners know that swimming is one of the best forms of exercise for dogs and has many benefits.

It is especially good for puppies while they are growing and their delicate bones and joints are still forming and can be easily damaged.

Also by getting a puppy used to swimming early, if it should ever need it for an injury it will enjoy it much quicker.

Why not have a go at hydrotherapy yourself - you might surprise yourself and really enjoy it just like Kit.

INTERVIEW WITH KITT

Tell me about yourself?

My name is Kitt I'm a Purcher, which means my Dad was a pointer and Mum was a lurcher.

I'm 8 years old but behave like a puppy.

I'm an Accrington lass, from Lancashire and my owners brought me to the other side of the Pennines and I'm happily living in Derbyshire now.

I was called Kitt because when I arrived at 8 weeks there were 5 cats in the house, I used to be able to come in and out of their cat flap and they only spat if I got too close. My favourite things to do are swimming, running in forests and on beaches.

Do you work? Where and if so what do you do?

Lifeguard but there's not much demand.

I could be a settee tester or an antler bone assessor as I spend a lot of time practicing. I enjoy chasing things and swimming.

I have mild hip dysplasia which means I try to swim more than run in the woods as its better for my joints. however I can't resist chasing a hare.

What is your favorite food?

I eat raw meat and when my owners aren't looking cat food. I'm keen to eat most things and do if I'm not stopped.

Where is your favourite place to be?

I like the seaside, on the beach walking between Whitby and Sandsends.

I also like to go to hydrotherapy at Chesterfield Hydrotherapy Referral Centre, I get cuddles and treats and play ball in the pool – fabulous.

Then I get dried off and cuddled more – finally more treats – its hard to beat.

It's good for me and better than the gym.

What is your favourite way to entertain yourself (annoy humans)?

I like to lie in muddy puddles when I get a hot tummy from running.

My owners yell at me "No" but I can't help myself.

I'm also quite partial to rolling in fox poo!

What is your greatest accomplishment?

Walking off the lead without getting sidetracked when I see people, joggers, cyclists and animals.

I'm aware that 'my public want to cuddle me so tend to run right up to them.

What is your next goal in life?

I love going to hydrotherapy every week to be looked after and play ball in the pool.

I'd like my owners to be home more and for the cats to show me more respect.

If you could be/do anything for a day, what would it be?

I'd make sure every dog as a puppy learnt to swim and to not be afraid of water.

What was your human's most embarrassing moment?

She fell over on a walk with me and we ended up getting an ambulance – I rode home in someone's car.

Once she got home it was funny, she was hobbling around for ages...

READER'S REVIEW - MAJOR

Review for All For Paws Chill Out Always Cool Mat-Large.

A few days ago, I began my adopted new life just as the heat arrived.

I was constantly panting, nervousness, unsure of my new surroundings and furamily.

I asked mum to order a cooling mat to help me.

She obliged and was surprised at the speed of delivery.

I helped unwrap it and place it on my bed, after all a greyhound doesn't do floors! We like our comforts.

After a couple of minutes laying on this mat, I suddenly stopped panting and fell asleep. Mum was amazed at how quick I settled. It's so easy to use, lasts up to 3-4hours before need a short unused time to allow the cooling gel inside to get cool again. Factual blurb, 20-15c cooler than body temperature.

I would give eleven, no twelve paws out of ten.
